4.2. Short description of the main activity of the issuer

The issuer's main activity is the management of Portfolio, which was purchased from an Austrian commercial bank as a seller. The financial assets of the Portfolio are receivables and real estate located in the Republic of Croatia. The Portfolio consists of different corporate (SME) debtors mostly domiciled in Croatia with loan agreements, most of which have already been terminated and 5 real estates across Croatia. Gross claim value (hereinafter also "GCV") amounts to approximately EUR 37 million. Claims are secured by approximately EUR 23 millions of collateral which is predominantly residential real estate.

Composition of the Portfolio:

Breakdown of the receivables by value at 31.12.2020 (EUR)	GCV (%)
0-300k	17%
300k-500k	13%
500k-1m	17%
>1m	52%
TOTAL	100%

Asset concentration in the Portfolio:

Real estate object type	Real estate MV (EURm)	% of Total
Residential	10.5	44%
Land	8.8	38%
Commercial	1.5	7%

Residential & Commercial	2.1	9%
TOTAL	23	100%

45% of the collateral value in the overall collateral pool stems from residential real estate assets, located in areas with medium to high property demand.

4.3. Asset liquidation

The issuer has authorised specialised receivables management agency to manage receivables, where a case manager was assigned to the secured cases. This is a person who has thoroughly become familiar with the receivable already during the due diligence process. For cases secured with real estate, a strategy for quick repayment at the highest possible price for the real estate has been developed individually, taking into account both the type of procedure (insolvency, court, extrajudicial) and the type of real estate. For unsecured receivables the management is standard, according to a certain scenario, depending on the type of procedure, receivables or debtor are not assigned to a case manager.

Different strategies will be used with the collection of the Portfolio: selling the receivables to an interested investor at a discount, selling the real estate on the open market with the consent of the debtor (if needed) with the help of a real estate agency, finding a buyer for the real estate in bankruptcy or court procedure etc. In cases of unsecured claims, where the debtor is not in bankruptcy, arrangements can be made for full repayment, with or without discount, and in most cases at least for instalments, if the image of the debtor or the guarantor shows that it will not be possible to repay otherwise. In bankruptcy where there is no collateral, mostly only procedural acts and possible repayments from the general bankruptcy estate are being monitored.

In cases of unsecured receivables where the debtor is not in bankruptcy proceeding, arrangements for full repayment with or without a discount can be made, and in most cases at least for instalment payment can be agreed, if the condition of debtor's or guarantor's asset shows that repayment will not be possible otherwise. In bankruptcy proceedings, where there are no securities, procedural acts and possible repayments from the general bankruptcy estate are mainly monitored.

Based on previous experiences in liquidation of receivables and real estate, the quality of the Portfolio's collaterals (estimated value of Portfolio) and the purchase price of the Portfolio, the issuer estimates that the full repayment date of Portfolio is year 2024, when the revenue plan is reached and the amount of the remaining monthly inflows is negligible. At that point, the remaining portfolio can be sold entirely to smaller investors at a low price.

In the context of risk exposure, payments to bondholders are dependent upon the performance of the Portfolio. Payments received from the realization of the Portfolio may be used in accordance with the Payment Waterfall as specified in Section 4.4. of this Information Prospectus. The Issuer and the bond investors are therefore exposed to the risk that the inflows from the collection of the Portfolio will not be sufficient to repay the full bond liabilities at maturity. The Issuer has given due consideration to this risk. When purchasing the Portfolio, the receivables were evaluated with the prices which provide security against the fall in market prices (especially real estate) and the average performance in the recovery of each type of receivables has been taken into account.

4.4. Repayment of bond liabilities

The strategy of the sole shareholder regarding the investment in AP KAPITAL 4 d.o.o. is the liquidation of the Portfolio with a target return. To this end, the sole shareholder implements measures for the realization of receivables and real estate, as presented in Section 4.3. of this Information Prospectus.

Monthly recall of the bonds will be made in accordance with the Payment Waterfall, if the available funds for payment to bondholders exceed EUR 100,000. The amount of the related payment to the bondholder upon the bonds' recall depends on the redemption date. In the event of early recall of bonds, the issuer is obliged to pay the principal to the bondholders together with accrued interest until the date of recall.

In the event of early recall of bonds, the issuer is obliged to pay the principal to the bondholders together with accrued interest until the date of recall.

6.2.3. Nominal interest rate

The interest rate on the bonds is fixed and amounts to 12.00% of the nominal value of the APT2 bond. The amount of interest is calculated from the nominal value of the bonds on the maturity date using the linear method by multiplying the interest rate by the nominal value of the bonds, considering the actual number of days in the interest period for which interest is calculated and 365 days in the year. Interest in the calculation of interest is rounded to two decimal places. Interest is calculated in a linear manner, whereas the actual number of days in the interest period for which interest is calculated (beginning on the issuing date and ending on the maturity date) and 365 days in a year are considered. Interest in the calculation of interest is rounded to two decimal places. The amount payable to the bondholder at the time of the interest payment shall be rounded to two decimal places.

6.2.4. Method of repayment

Inflows from the collection of the Portfolio will be used to settle the liabilities to APT2 bondholders in the third lien (see the Payment Waterfall in Section 4.4 of this Information Prospectus).

6.2.5. Method of calculating interest

Interest is calculated on the nominal value of the bonds in a linear manner by multiplying the interest rate by the value of the principal of the bond on the first day of the accounting period, taking into account the actual number of days in the interest period and 365 days in the year.

Interest is calculated using the following formula:

O interest during the period for which interest is calculated, rounded to four decimal places

OM annual interest rate (% per annum)

d_i actual number of days in the period for which interest is calculated from and including the first day of such period (but does not include the last day of the period)

G nominal value of the bond

365 number of days in a year

The amount of interest in the bonds is calculated from the principal amount of the bonds of each holder and is rounded down to two decimal places when paid out.

The principal of the bonds is remunerated from 15 January 2021 until 15 January 2024 (final maturity date) or, in case of early recall until the recall date (final maturity date and the recall date herein also "maturity date"). Interest together with the principal, is paid when the bonds mature. Interest on bonds ceases to accrue on the date of payment of the bond principal.

Interest due on the maturity date is accrued for the interest period beginning on the first day of the interest period (15 January 2021) and ending on the maturity date, but does not include the maturity date of the payment of the coupon in question.

6.2.6. Payment of liabilities from bonds

All bond liabilities are paid in Euros.

The issuer will pay the liabilities from the bonds on the basis of the holding records in the Central Register on the maturity date of the individual liability. The principal and interest amounts from the bonds are paid in accordance with the regulations and rules of operations of KDD, valid at the time of the fulfilment of the obligation. The payment made in this way is considered to be the correct and valid fulfilment of an individual monetary obligation and with it the obligation of the issuer to pay the relevant amount ceases.

The beneficiary in relation to an individual monetary obligation based on a bond is the person who, at the end of the last KDD working day before the maturity date of such obligation, is entered in the Central Register as the person entitled to receive fulfilment of such monetary obligation.

If the principal or the interest on the bonds cannot be paid to the beneficiary because it has not provided all the necessary information, the beneficiary may communicate the missing information to the issuer in a manner communicated by the issuer or another person on its behalf from time to time. If the beneficiary does not report the missing data for any amount from the bonds by the third KDD working day before the maturity date of such payment, the issuer is obliged to pay such amount to the beneficiary only on the fifth working day after the day when the missing data is correctly communicated in accordance with the above provision, however the beneficiary is not entitled to interest or any other payment that could result from such a deferral.

All payments of liabilities from bonds are subject to the applicable tax and other regulations. All taxes related to the payment of bond liabilities are borne by the bondholder. The issuer undertakes to bear all commissions and costs charged by its payment service provider in connection with such payments.

If the maturity date of the bond obligation is not a business day, the payments shall be made on the first following business day after the date of such payment. In this case, the bondholders shall not be entitled to interest for the period from the date of maturity of the bond obligation until the first following business day. Business day means any day on which the Trans-European Automated Real-Time Gross Settlement Express Transfer (TARGET 2) payment system operates, which uses a single shared platform and became operational on 19 November 2007.

In the event of any discrepancy the issuer will first and foremost comply with the provisions of the respective mandatory regulations when paying its obligations from the bonds.

6.2.7. Validity of claims for interest and repayment of principal

Receivables for the payment of principal become time-barred if they are not enforced within five years from the due date of payment. Receivables for the payment of interest become time-barred if they are not enforced within three years from the maturity date.

If payment of the bond's principal is unreasonably withheld or refused, the beneficiary of such payment shall be entitled to interest at the rate of the bonds (either before or after the judgment) until the first of the following days: (a) the day on which all amounts due such bonds paid to the beneficiary or to any other person who receives them on his behalf or (b) five (5) working days after the date on which the issuer notifies the beneficiaries that payment of all amounts due from principal and interest to each beneficiary will be made, when the issuer receives a notification from him about his cash (Euro) account (unless the issuer later violates its payment obligations again).

6.2.8. Bond classification

The bonds do not contain any clauses that would affect their classification (seniority or subordination) in the issuer's capital structure in the event of the issuer's insolvency or that would have effects on the investment in the event of resolution in accordance with Directive 2014/59/EU.

Receivables from bonds are secured, so their holders have the status of a separation creditor in the event of the issuer's insolvency.

6.3. Description of the rights, including their restrictions arising from the bonds, and the procedure for exercising those rights

6.3.1. Status of bonds liabilities

The issuer guarantees to the bondholders or beneficiaries with all its assets for the obligations arising from the bonds. The bonds are specially secured by the pledge over the Portfolio (i.e. the portfolio of non-performing loans and real estate), business share in the issuer and inflows in the issuer's transaction account, all in accordance with the security documents concluded with the investors for this purpose:

- a) Agreement on the pledge of the business share, ref. no. SV 236/21 of the notary public Uroš Kos from Ljubljana as of 18 February 2021,
- b) Agreement on the security assignment of receivables, ref. no. SV 234/21 of the notary public Uroš Kos from Ljubljana as of 18 February 2021,
- c) Agreement on the security assignment of bank account receivables, ref. no. 235/21 of the notary public Uroš Kos from Ljubljana as of 18 February 2021.

In the event of bankruptcy or liquidation of the issuer, the rules on the repayment of claims of secured creditors shall apply to the repayment of claims of bondholders.

All proceeds from the liquidation of the Portfolio are used to repay the liabilities of AP KAPITAL 4 d.o.o. in accordance with the Payment Waterfall, as already specified in Section 4.4 of this Information Prospectus.

6.3.2. Other rights arising from the bonds

Apart from the receivables towards the issuer, arising from the repayment of principal and interest on the bonds and rights from collateral, bonds do not provide the bondholder or other beneficiary with any other rights or exchange rights for other financial instruments. Bonds do not give the right to participate in the issuer's profit.

6.3.3. Exercising rights arising from bonds

Except for the bondholder, no one is entitled to exercise the rights arising from the bonds. Notwithstanding the above, a claim from payment of any monetary amount on the basis of bonds may be asserted only by the beneficiary of such payment (i.e. a person entered in the Central Register as the person entitled to receive the fulfilment of such monetary obligation).

6.3.4. Representation of bondholders

In relation to the issuer, no organisation is envisaged to represent the bondholders.

For the sake of transparency, the issuer has appointed an investors' representative as a body that will serve as a liaison between investors and the issuer's management and will (under certain conditions and to a certain extent) provide investors with an overview of the issuer's operations. The function of the investors' representative is performed by: SKLAD OBRTNIKOV IN PODJETNIKOV, with its registered seat in Ljubljana, Vošnjakova ulica 6, 1000 Ljubljana.

6.3.5. Early recall of bonds

The bonds contain a clause by which the issuer has the right to recall the bonds before their final maturity.

The issuer has the right to recall the bonds early in full or in part, through one or more recalls.

The Issuer will provide irrevocable written notice of the recall of bonds to investors 10 business days before early recall, in which it will indicate the quantity of recalled bonds and the date of early repayment of the recalled bonds. The repayment of recalled bonds will be made on the last day of the month (hereinafter also "redemption date"). In the event of early recall of bonds, the Issuer is obliged to repay to the bondholders the principal, together with interest accrued until the date of the recall.

The Issuer will recall the bonds in a recurring manner and pro-rata basis, in equal proportions for all bondholders. The quantity of recalled bonds with each bondholder shall be rounded down to the first whole number of bonds in the event of non-integer.

All payments to bondholders (including interest) depend entirely on the performance of the Portfolio. The issuer will recall the bonds taking into account the available inflows from the collection of the Portfolio. Monthly bond recall shall be made if the available funds for payment to bondholders, in accordance with the Payment Waterfall as specified in Section 4.4 of this Information Prospectus, exceed EUR 100,000.

The amount of the corresponding payment to the bondholder upon recall depends on the date of the recall.

6.4. Decisions, authorisations and confirmations by which securities were created and issued

The bonds were issued on the basis of the Management decision of AP KAPITAL 4 d.o.o., Nazorjeva ulica 12, 1000 Ljubljana on the issuing of bonds as of 09.12.2020 with amendments as of 15.12.2020 and 14.01.2021.

The issuer did not enter into any agreement with any person to take over the issuing (the first sale of bonds was carried out without the obligation to repurchase).

The bonds were subscribed and paid in in one stage. 2,000,000 APT2 bonds were fully subscribed on 25 February 2021. The selling price at which investors subscribed and paid for the bonds was 100 percent of the nominal value of the bond.

6.5. Date of issuing of bonds

On 5 March 2021, the bonds were issued in dematerialized form by entry in the accounts of bondholders in the Central Register, in accordance with the rules of KDD. In accordance with ZNVP-1, the legal holder of a dematerialized bond is a person in whose favour the bond is registered on the securities account kept with KDD.

6.6. The bondholder

For all purposes, the issuer will consider any person to whose credit a certain bond will be entered in the Central Register at a certain time as the legal holder of such a number of bonds. A certificate or other document by which KDD confirms that a certain number of bonds is entered in the account of an individual person will be considered for this purpose as a final and binding confirmation of this fact.

6.7. Entry in trading

The bonds are entered in trading on SI ENTER market, operated by Ljubljana Stock Exchange Inc., with the purpose to improve the liquidity of the bonds.

The bonds have not been admitted to trading on any other regulated or unorganised market of financial instruments.

The issuer has not entered into an agreement with any entity with which the later would undertake to act as an intermediary in the secondary market and in ensuring the liquidity of APT2 bonds.
